

TECH CONGRESS IN FULL SWING

Technology's Congress, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Institute, is in full swing today. It is full of interest and activity from all parts of the country in attendance. At 9 o'clock the round of events began with fraternity under-graduate smokers and receptions for the "old boys." At 1 o'clock the under-graduates' field day was celebrated at Tech Field, Brookline, and at 2:30 the formal program of the congress opened at Huntington Hall with a welcoming address by President Richard C. MacArthur. This meeting followed a student convention in the same hall.

Dr. MacArthur's address was followed by a paper on "The Spirit of Albany in Modern Industry," by Dr. William H. Walker, head of the Industrial Research Laboratory, and a paper by Professor F. E. A. Winslow on "Technology and the Public Health." Tonight there will be sessions of many graduate classes and an anniversary smoker at Symphony Hall.

Many Sessions Tomorrow.
Tomorrow sessions of the various sections will be held in the Institute Building from 11 until 1 and from 2:30 until 4:30. Professor C. F. Park, head of the Lowell School for Industrial Extension, is in charge of these sessions. There are six general divisions or sections, each in charge of a chairman. By this arrangement the public is able to select a division in which special interest is taken.

The divisions are as follows: 1. Recent Industrial Development, chairman, Professor Donald C. Jackson, head of the electrical engineering department; 2. Industrial Development in Relation to Finance & Investment, chairman, Dr. A. J. A. Winslow; 3. Scientific Administration and Management, chairman, Dr. D. H. Dewey; 4. Scientific Investigation and Control of Industrial Processes, chairman, Dr. William H. Walker; 5. Social and Industrial Statistics, chairman, Dr. William T. Deane; 6. Social and Industrial Department, chairman, Professor F. W. Chandler.

Will March to Smoker.
Nearly all the classes will meet for dinner tonight before adjourning to the big banquet smoker at Symphony Hall in the evening. The smoker tonight will be one of the most enthusiastic affairs ever given at Technology. The different graduate classes during about seven o'clock will be in the hall in a body. Those that have made definite arrangements are: Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Worcester and New York City of Technology, Yale and the Engineering building and then march to the hall with class banners. This feature of the smoker is in charge of a committee of which Lawrence W. Smith is chairman, assisted by Helle Jodrey, '07, and Professor Allen W. Barker, '07.

42,000 TREATED AT BOSTON DISPENSARY

During the year 1910 42,000 persons who could not afford to pay physicians were treated at the Boston Dispensary which is the oldest medical institution in this city. The patients who were its beneficiaries in the year just past constitute one-sixteenth of Boston's population. This dispensary, which was founded in 1790, depends for financial support upon endowments and the nominal fees charged for its services. In the annual report it is stated that the board of managers elected Michael H. Davis, Jr., formerly of New York city as director and to improve the service of the dispensary. Ten thousand dollars additional income will be needed this year. Contributions may be made through the Boston Dispensary, 81 State street.

U. S. GUNNERS SHOW GREAT MARKSMANSHIP

WASHINGTON, April 10.—American gunners have once more demonstrated their efficiency. The first reports of the results of the trials of the ships of the Atlantic Pacific fleet held at Manila, in the Philippines, indicate a remarkable improvement in marksmanship with 12-inch guns. Secretary Meyer said today that the results of the firing showed remarkable accuracy at ranges from five to seven miles.

Rheumatism Yields to the Great Kidney Remedy

I have been troubled with rheumatism for the last five years. Suffered with much pain in the limbs, back and feet and my joints have been stiff and sore. Also suffered from constipation. Besides having a regular physician, I had tried every remedy without receiving the least benefit until I accidentally came across a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. I began taking it, never thinking it would help me, but must acknowledge it has done wonders for me. Have taken more than a dozen bottles and feel that it has been a God-send to me. I am recommending it to all my friends.

Yours very truly,
H. A. ALDRICH,

Personally appeared H. A. Aldrich and made oath that the statement subscribed by him is true, before me.

FIRST JAPANESE WILL FILED HERE

The first copy of a Japanese will filed in Boston was recorded today in the Suffolk County Probate Court. The will was written in Japanese characters and covered four sheets of rice paper, sixteen inches long and twelve inches wide. It was accompanied by an English translation in typewritten form.

The will was that of Kato Kane of Tokyo, Japan, and the reason for filing it in Boston was because she had $1,000 in a bank here. Davis A. Ellis, former member of the school committee, was appointed public administrator of the portion of the estate located here and it was necessary for him to send to Japan for a copy of the original will.

Some of the queer portions of the will were: "All pictures in Tokyo and goods packed in baskets shall be sold for my funeral service after deducting sufficient funds to provide one hundred yen for the sign of the ceremonial hat of Shinto religion and one hundred yen. Those with ten yen shall be assigned to Jokoku Temple at Kinogawa Yakushi."

"My costume and other things of daily use shall be distributed to my intimate friends in proper manner at the discretion of Katsunori Tatsuji and his wife. I own a burial lot of three cubs to be left belonging to Yonohji Temple at Yoko and my body shall be interred there."

The Sirolin Sentinel Fighting The Great White Plague

BOSTON, MONDAY, APRIL 10, 1911.
Home-Treatment for Lung and Throat Ailments

No Specialists' Fees—No Sanatorium Charges—No Traveling Expenses.

The coming of Sirolin to America has made it possible for every sufferer from lung and throat troubles to take at trifling expense, and in the comfort of home, the treatment prescribed by Europe's leading specialists. Sirolin takes at the first sign of Croup, Colds, La Grippe and other throat and lung ailments invariably cuts short the attack—it is available as a preventive remedy. In deep seated, chronic diseases of the air passages Sirolin has remarkable virus in causing unfavourable conditions to rapidly disappear and in restoring the sufferer to normal health. In Inipient Consumption, the taking of Sirolin combined with fresh air treatment and plenty of nutritious food is followed by results little short of miraculous—coughing rapidly decreases, weakening night sweats disappear, the appetite improves, the chest and limbs fill out, the body weight increases, the quality of the blood is improved, the nervous system becomes normal and the influence of tubercle bacilli is checked and the germs often entirely eliminated. Because of the absolute harmlessness of Sirolin—the entire absence of any injurious drug, the manufacturers have consented to have Sirolin sold by high-class druggists direct to all who suffer from trifling or serious ailments of the throat and lungs. The coming of Sirolin to America is an event.

Lorimer in the Senate—and the $100,000 That Put Him There

A National Disgrace And a Revelation of the Part That Organized Money Plays in National Government

Copyright, 1911, by American Journal Editors

Do you understand exactly the latest revealed facts in regard to Mr. Lorimer, who represents the State of Illinois in the Senate of the United States?

If you do understand the facts, make them clear to every neighbor that does not understand.

The people of this country ought to know how the country is governed—and the part played in government by the power of organized capital.

Lorimer is a type of the corrupt politician, subservient to corporations and cynical as to methods.

His place in the Senate was bought.

About this there is no guesswork—what we tell you is a matter of record.

Mr. Kohlsaat of Chicago, editor of the Record Herald, a very well known citizen and merchant as well as a publisher, KNEW THE FACTS IN REGARD TO THE LORIMER BRIBERY STORY.

These facts had been told him in confidence. He refused to give his information to a commission of investigation, and would have gone to jail because of his refusal to betray what he considered a confidence.

However, the man from whom he had got the information released Kohlsaat in order to save the latter from prison.

Then these facts came out:

Clarence S. Funk is the general manager of the International Harvester Company—one of the big trusts in this country.

After Lorimer had been elected, Funk, the head of the big trust, met Edward Hines, "a millionaire Chicago lumberman," who managed Lorimer's Senatorial campaign.

Said Hines:

"Well, we put Lorimer over, but it cost us $100,000 to do it."

The rest of the conversation revealed these facts:

It was found that Lorimer, friendly to the Trusts—the kind of man that they send to the Senate constantly—could be elected by spending $100,000.

Lorimer wanted to be Senator. Everybody knew that he was unfit to be Senator. Everybody knew that a certain number of members of the Legislature would take cash and obey orders. It was necessary to get the cash, bribe the radicals and elect Lorimer in a hurry.

Concerning this Hines said—as testified to under oath by the head of the Harvester Company:

"We had to act quickly, so that it became necessary for us to put up the money. Now we are seeing some of our friends get it fixed up."

This Funk of the Harvester Company swears to, in order to keep Kohlsaat out of jail for refusing to tell the truth.

What does this mean? It means that a few of the rich men put their hands in their pockets, produced the $100,000 bribe money to elect Lorimer, the corruptionist, and then started around among their friends to get back the amount and divide it up evenly.

When the head of the Harvester Trust asked why he was approached, the reply was: "You are as much interested as any one in having the RIGHT KIND of man in Washington."

Lorimer, you must understand, is THE RIGHT KIND OF MAN from the corrupt Trusts' point of view.

Mr. Hines, the friend of Lorimer—the gentleman who, according to the sworn testimony, asked "some of our friends" to make up the $100,000 bribe fund—said that the money was to be sent to "Edward Tilden, in the Stock Yards"—that is to say, in the Beef Trust region.

There isn't any doubt about this statement of facts. There isn't the slightest reason in the world why the head of the Harvester Trust should swear to a falsehood. He never in the world would have mentioned the facts, the story never would have come out, except that the truth had to be told in order to keep Kohlsaat out of jail.

Kohlsaat is out of jail and Lorimer is in the Senate, and the $100,000 of bribe money is in the pockets of certain legislators, and the Trusts have, in the Senate of the United States, what they call "THE RIGHT KIND OF MAN IN WASHINGTON."

The story that was told to keep Mr. Kohlsaat out of jail ought to be put somebody else IN jail, and it ought to be put Lorimer out of the Senate.

The man in the United States Senate who says to-day that he doesn't believe that bribery put Lorimer in the Senate is a fool or a knave. There isn't an honest man in the Senate who doesn't know perfectly well that the story told by Funk, the head of the Harvester Trust, is true.

Every man in the Senate of the United States who votes to keep Lorimer there votes knowingly to keep in the Senate a man whose place was bought.

Every Senator who votes, after this revelation, to keep Mr. Lorimer in the Senate of the United States votes in favor of bribery, votes to keep in the greatest legislative body in the world a man known to be put there by bribery.

Every Senator of the United States who votes to keep Lorimer in the Senate stamps himself as a friend of bribery and a man absolutely unfit to serve the people.

There will be another effort made to put this corruptionist, Lorimer, out of the Senate. And some corrupt men will vote to keep him in his bought seat.

And after that vote the people of the United States will know which of the Senators are honest men and which of them are corruptionists, sympathizing with corruption.

And after that vote the people of the United States will know which of the Senators are honest men and which of them are corruptionists, sympathizing with corruption.

And after that vote the people of the United States will know which of the Senators are honest men and which of them are corruptionists, sympathizing with corruption.

Child Marriage; A Blot on India's Civilization

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

THIS article, by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, on the "Child Widows of India," is in reply to her observations of the terrible practice of marrying poor children in that land. Mrs. Wilcox is now traveling in India for the AMERICAN and making a study of the conditions of women throughout the Orient.

Other articles of this character from the pen of Mrs. Wilcox will appear from time to time in this column—THE EDITOR.

She climbed over a garden wall, and her lover awaited her on the other side. She is a handsome and attractive young woman, and has further literally "astonished the natives" by ascending to an aeroplane, and is regretful to state by missing character.

She is regarded by the conservative people of America as a warning rather than an example, because it is declared her new-found freedom has made her bold and destroyed her modesty.

An Omen That He Is Displeased with Her Marriage

It is further stated by the tradition-bound that the birth of two daughters and no son to this woman gives evidence that God does not bless her union to a second husband, albeit he is a descendant of one of the many royal branches of India.

The orthodox people of India will insist upon saying that the child widows of their land live quite happily in their castles of devotion to the dead. Without doubt there are such cases, and it is impossible for the Western mind to grasp the Eastern view of life.

Progress Has Killed "Suites," but Not Child Marriage

Progress and the influence of western ideas have caused a cessation of the old custom of "suites," the burning of the widow on her husband's funeral pyre, but it is quite as absolutely sacrificed in many instances by the traditions of her race to say, though the process is a slower one.

In Bengal, the province which includes Assam, there is a marked change taking place in the minds of the cultivated class regarding child marriage, the position of women and the position of widows. Yet there we realize that only one woman in ten hundred in India can read or write and that only one man in twelve is educated. It is easy to understand that the efforts of the West to make a decided change in a thousand-year-old custom.

The great city of Calcutta contains one widow who devoted her life from childhood to the memory of her dead husband's family. Then, four years ago, she died a great widow by the unheard-of act of eloping and marrying a second time.

Constant acts of superstition and time-honored tradition produce in certain ideal temperaments such examples of hysterical devotion to a cause.

But there is another side to the picture. An Indian doctor, who is interested in his land and devoting his whole time to efforts toward the betterment of his race, told me there were 1,000 Indian widows under fourteen years of age living in the province of Bengal, and many others of a more mature age.

With an outlook toward home, happiness, liberty, love or any of the things which make life for a woman worth living, can we wonder if many of these child widows fall by the wayside?

What He Can't Do

By MILES OVERHOLT

I CAN take a drink or leave it alone. Or even take two or three.

I can walk all day or loaf and dream. Most any old thing suits me.

I can sleep all night or wait till day. I can laugh at a three-hour joke.

But it makes no difference what they say: I can't cut out the smoke.

I can eat stale bread or angel cake. I can walk all day or ride.

I can use a spoon or a garden rake. I can eat half boiled or fried.

I can lead in prayer or swear like sin. I can eat fruit green or ripe.

I am satisfied outdoors or in. But I can't cut out the pipe.

I can take a chew or pass it by. I can smile or show a frown.

I can cure a green or yellow toe. I can sleep on floor or couch.

I can love or hate, just as I wish. I can quench my thirst or choke.

I am satisfied to catch no fish. I can't cut out the smoke.

The primal duties shine aloft, like stars: Charities that soothe and heal and bless. Are scattered at the feet of man like flowers.

WORDS WORTH.

Little Bobbie He Writes About One Great Man

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

WIFE, Pa. and, how often have I told you that all the really great men in the West. If you mean really great men, like you & Abe Lincoln, and Ma, you must not count a million times. But why the question?

Well, Pa. it is this way. There is a fellow named Lucius, who is a copper mine part of what made me rich. It is the story of the mine, which he made a fragment of the mine, which he made everybody call me the Sheriff. It is the story of the mine. LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

MISSOURI CHIEF JOSEPHINE May you write many more. Very truly yours, JOSEPHINE WILCOX.

DEAR SIR—I read with great interest your excellent editorial on the remarkable career, Missouri Chief Josephine, owned by the United States government.

Every one of the government takes such great interest in her and other animals, to keep in interest itself in such matters, and poor, helpless children who die in large numbers because of lack of nourishment and good surroundings.

Many thanks for your fine editorial. God bless you! AN AMERICAN.
